INSTRUCTIONS FOR

BLERIOT

AUTO-GENERATOR.

WELDHEN & BLERIOT, Ltd.,

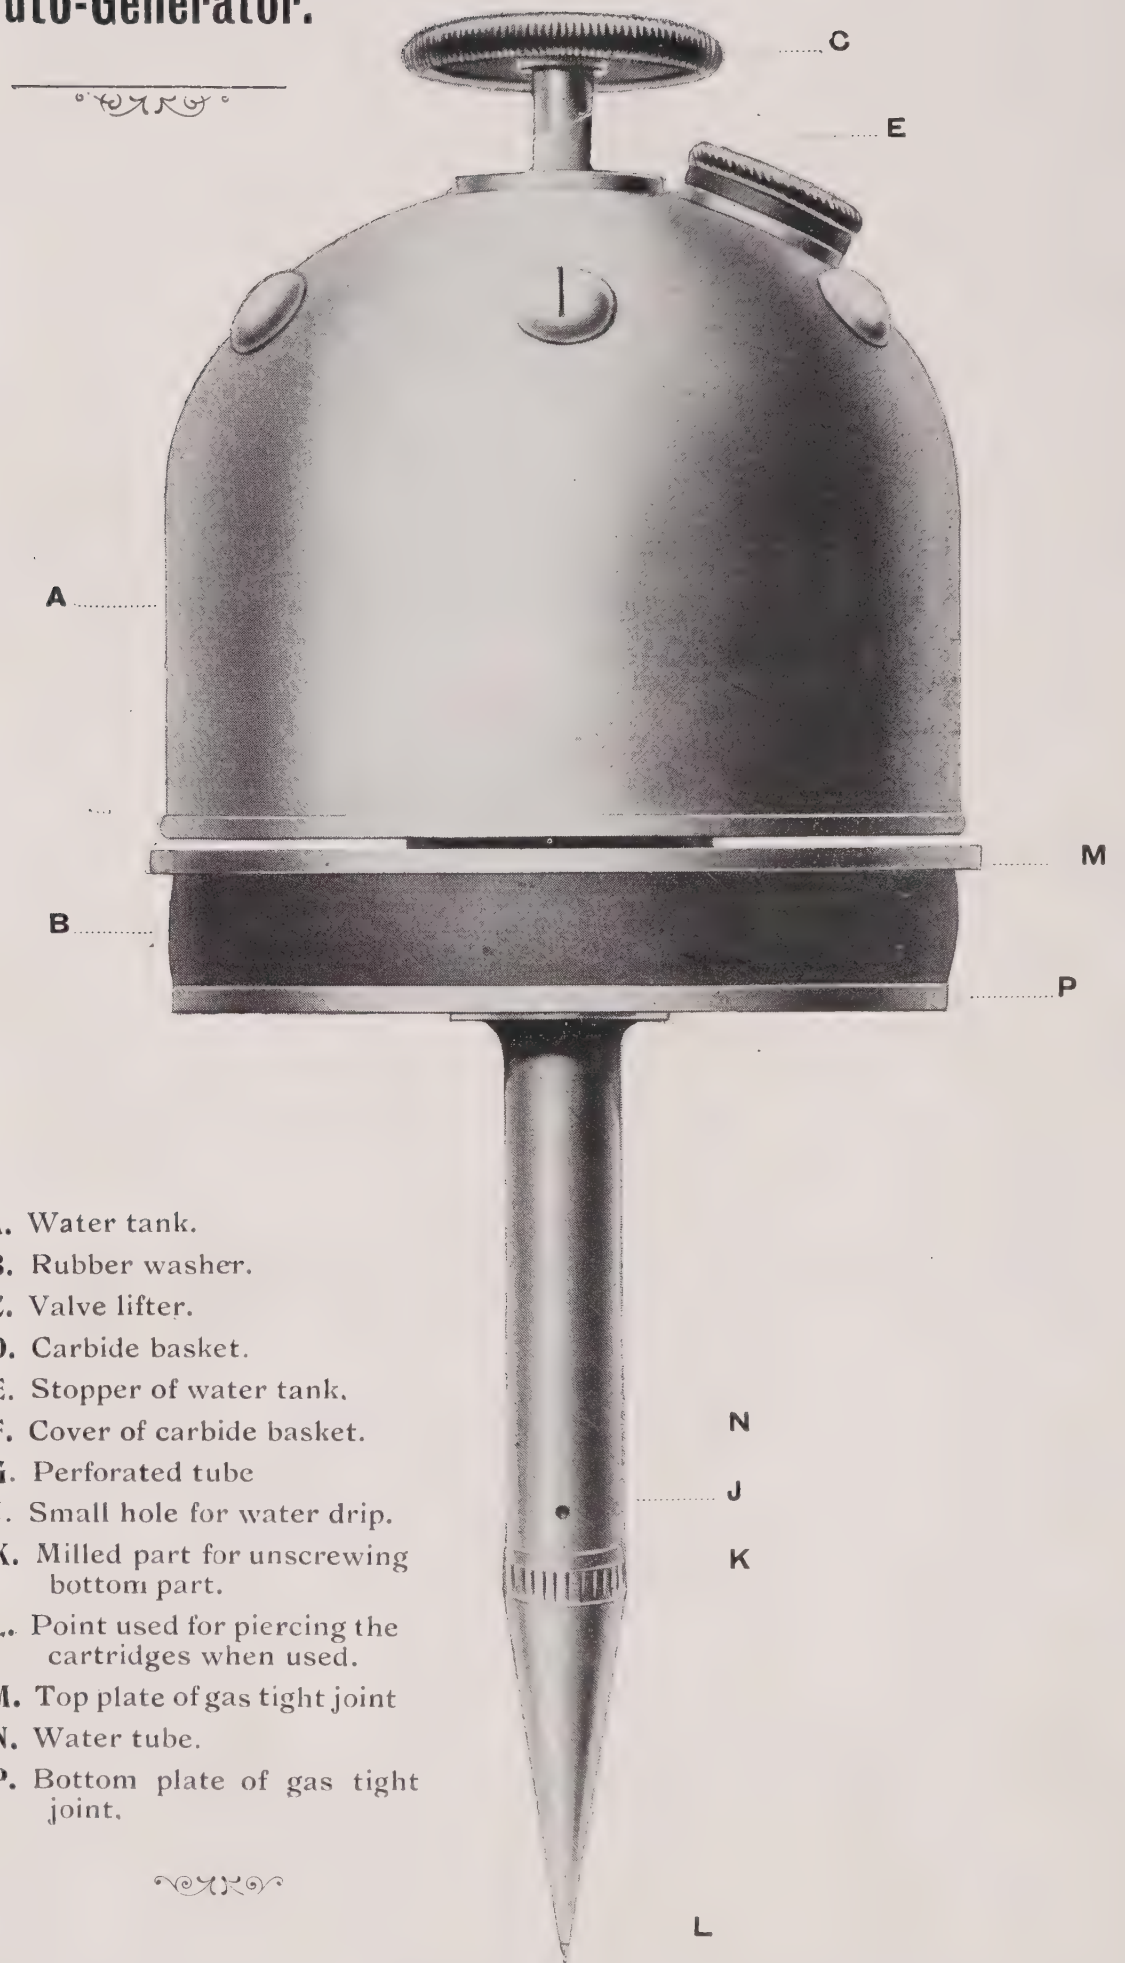

54, LONG ACRE,

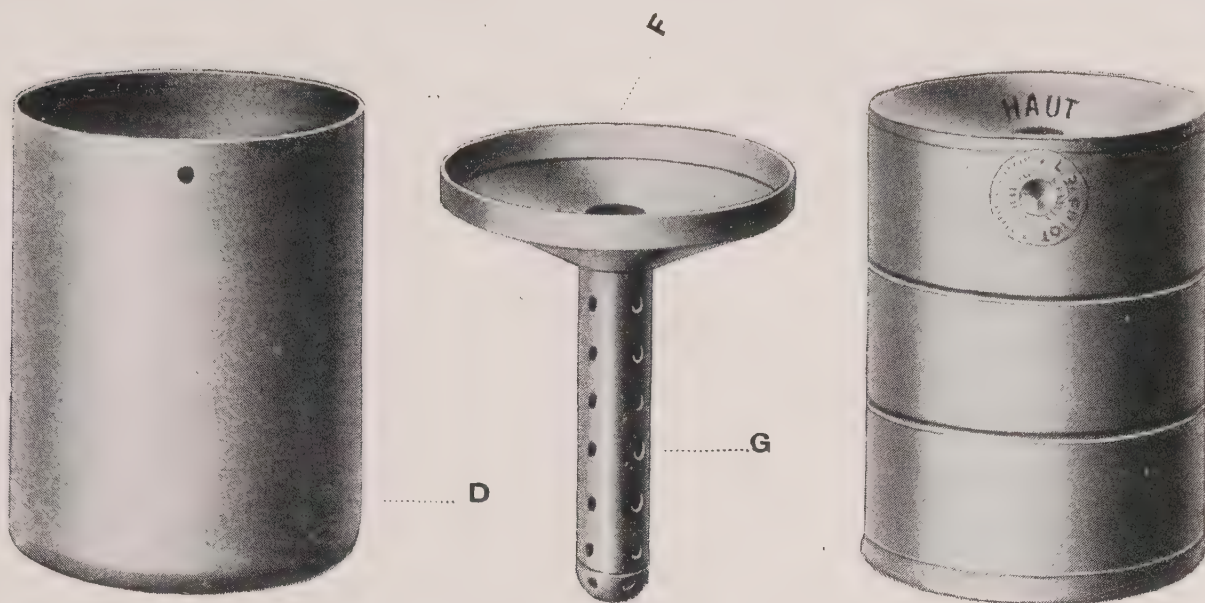

LONDON, W.C.

Works:—LONDON and PARIS.

Auto-Generator.

CARBIDE BASKET D.

COVER F.

BLERIOT CARTRIDGE.

Instructions for Auto-Generator.

CHARGING. This generator can be charged in two different ways—1, By means of ordinary Calcium Carbide placed in the Basket D, or—2, With a special ready-made Cartridge.

1.—Charging with Ordinary Calcium Carbide.

- 1.—Fill the Water Tank A by unscrewing the Stopper E and placing the tank in such a position as to keep the hole right at the top to fill the tank entirely. Screw again the Stopper E quite tight.
- 2.—Take off the Cover F of Basket D, place in the basket a quantity of Carbide proportionate to the length of time that the light will be required, about 2 ounces per hour, making sure that the basket is never more than half full. Replace Cover F and put the basket in the Generator.
- 3.—Place the Tube N inside the perforated tube of the cover, making sure that the whole of the Rubber Ring B goes into the Generator. Make a gas-tight joint by screwing the whole of the Water Tank A. By screwing this tank the two Plates M and P are pressed against the Rubber Ring B, which expands against the walls of the Generator. This screwing should not be exaggerated, but stopped as soon as the resistance shows that it is tight.

The Generator is then ready and can be kept charged permanently.

2.—Charging with a Cartridge.

Follow the same instructions for filling the water tank.

4.—Take off the Cover F, which is not used in this case, and place a Cartridge in the basket after making a small hole in the centre of the small brass cap at the side of the Cartridge with the point L.

5.—Force the Tube N right in the centre of the Cartridge, and then follow all the rest of the instructions as given in Par. 3.

TO LIGHT UP.

6 —Unscrew C as high as it will go when the water will drop by Hole J, which must be kept perfectly free.

TO TURN
LIGHT OFF.

7.—Screw C to lowest position and blow light out.

CLEANING.

8.—Unscrew water tank and take off top part of generator.

9.—Take off Carbide Basket D, which has to be thoroughly cleaned when ordinary Carbide has been used, and see that all the holes of Tube G are unstopped.

10. If charged with Cartridge there is no cleaning required, it will be found sufficient to throw away the Cartridge which has been used.

11.—It is very important that all parts of the Tube N should be kept perfectly clean, it will therefore be found necessary to wash this tube in plenty of water and see that the small hole J is not stopped.

FILTER. 12.—In every Auto-Generator or lamp fitted with Auto-Generator there is a filter to purify the gas before it goes to the burner; this filter must be properly charged.

To effect this unscrew the cover that closes the filter and put in it some cotton wool and a few small pieces of Carbide and screw back again the cover. This is to be done every time that the pieces of Carbide are found to have gone into powder.

applies to separate Generators only & not to self-contained
& No 3.*

13.—Each Generator is encased in a tank which has to be filled two-thirds with ^{Glycerine} ~~water~~ to keep the gas cool. This, of course, is done once for all, and ~~it is preferable to mix part glycerine and water to prevent it freezing in winter. See that the stopper is well screwed on after filling.~~

BATTERIES OF GENERATORS.

In our Batteries of Generators and in the Lamps No. 1 the Generators can work separately or simultaneously. When only one Generator is working, it is necessary to make sure that in each of the other ones the valve lifter is at the lower position, the water tank properly filled, and the joint made by the rubber ring properly closed to prevent any leakage of gas, as all the Generators are in communication with each other.

When a Generator has been used and a second one is started it is necessary to close the water valve of the first one used to prevent a leakage.

~~In all the Batteries of Generators there is a gas tube without a tap. This is absolutely necessary as it would otherwise be very dangerous, as this is the only way by which any over-production can escape from the Generator.~~

~~When only one lamp is used in connection with a Battery of Generators the tube must be connected with that gas tube without a tap, and it is necessary to ascertain that the other taps are well closed.~~

It is also essential that a small space of about one-sixteenth of an inch should exist between the Plate M and the bottom of the Water Tank A; this space is filled with a leather washer which has to be replaced when the space has been reduced on account of the leather getting too thin.
